

Hold The Horses, Here Come The Gas Buggies!

Old Time Glidden Tour To Pass Through Salem On Aug. 24

By WILLIAM GLOVER
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—Four score gas buggies and paddle jumpers from 'back bay are all slicked up and set to go chugging across half America on a sentimental journey into the past—and you needn't send a horse, thanks.

The Veteran Motor Car Club of America, comprised of hobbyists who love those old cars like junior loves his puppy dog, is sponsoring a cavalcade of high-wheelers, tiller drives and steamers to start next Saturday.

It's a week-long revival of the Glidden Tour. In the old days, the Glidden was a spine-shaking endurance contest staged annually to prove that horseless carriages really could take it.

One group of old-timers will start from mid-town Gotham, and others will set out from Philadelphia, Boston and Washington for rendezvous at Albany, N. Y.

The entourage will stay together then for daily 30-mile-an-hour stages to Syracuse, Rochester and Buffalo. There they are to be loaded on a Great Lakes boat for a run to Detroit and two days of ceremony.

Next will come a boat trip to Cleveland, after which the drivers will crank up anew for a run through Salem to Columbiana, the end of the tour. The total land distance will be a bit over 500 miles.

Five trophies, awarded on the basis of performance, will be presented by the Ford Motor Co., General Motors Corp., Thompson Products, Firestone Tire &

Rubber Co. and the Texas Co. There'll be no attempt to tear off speed records on 1946 highways, even though some of the old timers were record holders in their day and at least one Stanley steamer (remember?) in the caravan still can do better than 100 miles an hour.

Another of the cars taking part will be historic "Number 16," a 1906 Locomobile which won the 1908 Vanderbilt cup race. Now it belongs to Peter Helck, a commercial artist, but riding in it will be George Robertson, who drove it in that long-ago competition.

James Melton, singing star and chairman of the tour committee, will be at the wheel of a 1907 double chain Locomobile. A 1910 Stanley which Melton owns will be driven by Harold Young. On the latter will be a special Connecticut license plate, "Gent," issued in tribute to its ancient reputation as "the gentleman's speedy roadster."

Among other collectors in the race are Francis V. Dupont, Wilmington, Del., driving a 1911 Oldsmobile, and B. J. Pollard, Detroit, with a 1907 White.

Altogether, 36 makes of cars will be included, 10 of which are still manufactured. Among the one-time greats are Pierce-Arrow, Crane-Simplex, Mercer, EMP, Maxwell, Whiting, Franklin, Babcock, Stutz, Overland, Autocar, Hupp, Reo, Sears, Rambler, Brush, Roamer, and a 1916 Brockway-LaFrance torpedo fire-truck.

Most of the entrants will carry two or three passengers. The most ancient vehicle entered is a 1904 Olds.

"We owners of veteran cars are doing this thing for the fun of it," explains Melton, "and to bring back something from the old days that this age of atomic bombs and 1946 model cars seems to lack. Anyway, most of our wives think we're crazy."

Marshal of the procession will be Mrs. H. R. W. Finn, Jersey City, N. J., a hobbyist who will drive the only late-model car, a '42 Ford. Accompanying the caravan will be a truck supplied with specially-made proper size tires for the old cars in case of flats. Along the route, service stations are to have vintage no-lead gasoline and a supply of kerosene for steam-driven cars.

Get out your duster and goggles, mom, we're on our way.

Molotov Explains His Stand Towards Italian Settlement

(By Associated Press)

PARIS, Aug. 13.—Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov told the Paris Peace conference today "Fascist Italy bears a tremendous responsibility" but that "does not mean that Italy should lose her importance as a power in the Mediterranean."

Speaking in response to pleas for leniency expressed Saturday by Premier Alcide De Gasperi of Italy, Molotov paid tribute to the "historic services rendered by Italy."

He said the Soviet people were "confident for the future of Italy as a great country."

He added, however, that De Gasperi's address was an "attempt to evade the fundamental problems of Italy's democratic resurgence."

"The head of the Italian delegation failed to condemn Fascism. He failed to make a single remark against the work of Mussolini, Molotov declared.

The Russian foreign minister said De Gasperi's suggestion for a year's delay in completing the peace terms, especially with relation to the future of Trieste "can meet with no support from this conference."

Attempt To Separate

He said Italy's demand for postponement was an attempt "to exploit divergences in the views between the Allies," and was based on the hope that "it will be possible to upset certain compromises of the Foreign Ministers' council."

In passing, he also bespoke opposition to the suggestion that final settlement for Italy await the German peace terms, declaring: "Peace with Germany can have no bearing whatever on Trieste."

Molotov recalled that it was only after the Russian victory at Stalingrad and the allied victories in North Africa and Southern Italy that Italy got out of the war and "began to reorganize on a democratic basis."

It was not easy for the new Italy

to stand firm after the downfall of Fascism. Italy can not become a democratic country unless she roots out the last vestiges of Fascism," he said.

Molotov charged that "certain powers are trying to gain power in the Mediterranean at the expense of Italy and France," and said both countries should "feel responsibility as Mediterranean states."

Must Make Changes

To stand on its feet, Molotov said, "Italy must carry out radical changes. The new Italy must have the support of all nations."

He said the assertions of De Gasperi were "the claims of the old imperialist Italy and not of the genuine new democratic Italy."

Molotov recalled that Italy had used Istria as a base for invasion of Yugoslavia. He added, however, that "the time has passed when the Slav people are the object of attacks by neighboring states."

CAR DEALERS TO RECEIVE SECOND PRICE ADJUSTMENT

Yesterday's Hike Restored Profit, New Rise To Up Handling Cost

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—OPA went to work today on still another boost in automobile prices—one slated to push around 25 percent the total average hike over 1942 ceilings.

With authorized prices already about 22 percent higher than the level of four years ago, OPA officials met with dealer representatives to thresh out the amount of the next increase.

Like the average 73 percent boost piled yesterday on top of a previous 15 percent rise, the imminent additional price hike is required by the new price control law.

Most Hike Handling Charge
Yesterday's increases, ranging from $62 to $322 a car, restored dealers' prewar profit margins, as ordered by congress. OPA had cut these before the controversy began over whether to keep the price control agency in existence.

Now OPA has to re-establish dealers' prewar handling charges, which it also reduced. These charges cover the expense of a final check-up on new cars.

OPA officials previously had estimated that the handling charge adjustment would require a further five percent increase in retail ceilings. Today they revised this downward to about three percent.

The auto price increase on tap will be the fifth on top of 1942 ceilings since last November.

In addition to yesterday's profit-restoring increase, there have been boosts to offset (1) a rise in labor and materials costs during the war, (2) wage increases granted early this year, and (3) higher steel prices authorized in February.

Following its announcement of the 7.3 percent increase—an average of $62 a car—OPA released figures late yesterday showing that ceilings on four-door sedans now range from $134 higher on a Hudson to $846 higher on a Cadillac than ceilings on comparable 1942 models.

The increases over June 30 ceilings on these four-door models range from $69 on a Chevrolet to $293 on a Cadillac.

CITY WORKERS RESUME WATER TO INDUSTRY

East Liverpool Strikers Agree To Serve Plants During Strike

(By Associated Press)

EAST LIVERPOOL, Aug. 13.—Normal water service was restored today to East Liverpool's thirsting industries, some of which had closed because of a strike by AFL city service department workers that started as the city opened its Victory Week celebration.

The State, County and Municipal Employees union (AFL), which represents the 42 striking employees of the street, incinerator and water departments, agreed to the resumption of commercial service pending further negotiations in their pay dispute.

Negotiations were scheduled to resume at 1 p. m. today with three representatives each of city council, the union and the chamber of commerce participating.

Mayor Urges Boost

The agreement was reached last night at a city council session after that body had refused again Mayor Earl Greenawald's plea that the union be granted its demand for an 18½-cent hourly wage increase.

The mayor proposed that the extra expense of a raise be met from the city's $12,600 share of funds recently distributed by the state legislature to local governments. Council rejected the proposal on the grounds the money was needed for street repairs.

Attending the council meeting were numerous representatives of industry and the union. During the acrimonious session, General Manager William Hocking of the Hall China Co. suggested that a state of public emergency be declared, but city officials said this was not justified.

Beginning simultaneously with the city's observance of victory week in honor of World War II veterans, the strike halted all garbage collections except at hospitals and curtailed water service except to domestic consumers and institutions.

This resulted in a shutdown of most small industries, three laundries and two swimming pools. The Hall China Co., city's largest employer with nearly 1,000 workers, remained open.

USSR Asks Defense Of Black Sea Area

MOSCOW, Aug. 13.—Soviet Russia announced today she had proposed to Turkey that the Black Sea powers take full authority in drawing up a new treaty governing the Dardanelles and that the U.S.S.R. and Turkey should organize defenses of the straits jointly.

The Russian note said the 10-year-old Montreux convention, whereby Turkey was granted the right to militarize the straits "does not correspond to the interest of security of the Black Sea states and does not guarantee conditions preventing the use of these straits with aims inimical to the Black Sea powers."

The note asserted that Germans and Italians had used the strategic straits between the Black Sea and the Mediterranean illegally for military purposes during the second world war and that Turkey "cannot avoid responsibility."

Russia proposed that the straits be kept open to the passage of commercial vessels of all nations, but only to war vessels of the Black Sea powers except in cases where special arrangements had been made in advance.

Attempted Escape By Inmate Thwarted

LIMA, Aug. 13.—A thwarted attempt to break free of the Lima State hospital for the criminal insane, using a smuggled hacksaw blade, was disclosed today by Supt. R. E. Bushong.

Bushong said Dennis Dolan, an inmate recently transferred from Ohio penitentiary, sawed through bars leading from his room to a corridor, overpowered a guard and forced him to change clothes.

The prisoner, holding the blade at the guard's neck, marched him to the barred door leading to the administration quarters. Bushong said Dolan forced two other guards to open the door with the threat to kill his host.

As the door opened, the superintendent said, the first guard dove to the floor and the other guards overpowered Dolan.

PALESTINE FUSS GROWING WORSE

HAIFA, Palestine, Aug. 13.—The British deported 1,000 illegal Jewish immigrants to Cyprus today aboard two troopships while mobs of young Jews, aroused by the outlawed Hagana radio, rioted in the troop-filled streets.

But another 650 illegal Jewish immigrants arrived off the harbor of this half-Jewish, half-Arab port aboard the sloop Fenicebm.

The rioting Jews stoned troops of the British first infantry division, guarding the docks, and police.

The Hagana radio called on residents of Haifa to "storm the streets" and break the curfew, which the British imposed while the Jews were being loaded for deportation.

Even the Arab quarters in Haifa joined in defiance of the curfew. The Arabs, however, caused little disturbance.

Jewish residents streamed down hillside streets toward the docks a few minutes after the last refugees were loaded.

The British first infantry division, called into action, quickly threw a cordon around the dock area, but only after nearly 2,000 persons had streamed down King's Way which parallels the Quays.

The curfew breakers, mostly young men, hurled stones at police and milled around the entrances to the docks.

The demonstration began, however, only after the troopships had been loaded and were under way.

500 Leave First

Approximately 500 illegal Jewish immigrants who had spent 32 hours aboard a ship anchored in the harbor within sight of their "promised land" were the first to sail this morning.

The sailing was in accordance with an announcement last night in London that the British government intended to halt all illegal immigration to Palestine and that Jews arriving in Palestine ports without proper papers would be removed to Cyprus or some other detention point.

Those aboard the first deportation ship were passengers from the dingy little auxiliary schooner Yagur, which arrived here only yesterday after a trip from Southern France.

After being debarked from the Yagur, the refugees walked along 50 feet of docks under the guard of British soldiers and then moved up the gangplank of the British troopship, Empire Royal.

The refugees were advised by loudspeaker at dawn of their impending transfer to the Empire Royal and were urged by British officers to go peacefully aboard the Empire Royal, where they were promised fair treatment.

Forced Off Ships

An hour later, however, the immigrants had made no move to comply, and British troops boarded the Yagur and forced them to quit the ship.

Cries of "Fascist" and "Nazi" arose from the refugees during the transfer.

The Empire Royal was equipped with barbed wire cages for the voyage.

Approximately 540 more immigrants from the refugee ship Henrietta Szold were to be loaded later in the day aboard the troopship Empire Helwood for the 16-hour trip to Cyprus.

There the refugees will be housed in camps which originally were built for German prisoners of war.

Most of the refugees from the Yagur appeared sullen. Only a few, however, offered resistance and had to be carried aboard.

The docks bristled with heavily armed troops and armor during the ship-to-ship transfer. All Haifa had been placed under strict curfew beginning at 1 a. m.

Nearly a dozen tank destroyers were among the armor in evidence.

May Pay Rubbermen 'Portal To Portal'

AKRON, Aug. 13.—An employee's suit for "portal to portal" pay, reimbursement for all time spent inside the plant's gates, was recorded today for what was believed the first time in the rubber industry.

The suit was filed in common pleas court yesterday against B. F. Goodrich Co. on behalf of Merrill A. Sayre, asking pay for "time spent entering the gates, for the time spent in reaching the locker room, time spent in changing clothes, getting tools, checking in, and thence to his respective job."

About 25 minutes per day, the petition estimated, was consumed inside the gate without compensation.

Mining and several other industries already pay on a "portal to portal" basis.

Hold The Horses, Here Come The Gas Buggies!

Old Time Glidden Tour To Pass Through Salem On Aug. 24

By WILLIAM GLOVER
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 13—Four score gas buggies and poodle jumpers from 'way back are all slicked up and set to go chugging across half America on a sentimental journey into the past—and you needn't send a horse, thanks.

The Veteran Motor Car Club of America, comprised of hobbyists who love those old cars like junior loves his puppy dog, is sponsoring a cavalcade of high-wheelers, tiller drives and steamers to start next Saturday.

It's a week-long revival of the Glidden Tour. In the old days, the Glidden was a spine-shaking endurance contest staged annually to prove that horseless carriages really could take it.

One group of old-timers will start from mid-town Gotham, and others will set out from Philadelphia, Boston and Washington for rendezvous at Albany, N. Y.

The entourage will stay together then for daily 30-mile-an-hour stages to Syracuse, Rochester and Buffalo. There they are to be loaded on a Great Lakes boat for a run to Detroit and two days of ceremony.

Next will come a boat trip to Cleveland, after which the drivers will crank up anew for a run through Salem to Columbiana, the end of the tour. The total land distance will be a bit over 500 miles.

Five trophies, awarded on the basis of performance, will be presented by the Ford Motor Co., General Motors Corp., Thompson Products, Firestone Tire &

Rubber Co. and the Texas Co. There'll be no attempt to tear off speed records on 1946 highways, even though some of the old timers were record holders in their day and at least one Stanley steamer (remember?) in the caravan still can do better than 100 miles an hour.

Another of the cars taking part will be historic "Number 16," a 1906 Locomobile which won the 1908 Vanderbilt cup race. Now it belongs to Peter Helek, a commercial artist, but riding in it will be George Robertson, who drove it in that long-ago competition.

James Melton, singing star and chairman of the tour committee, will be at the wheel of a 1907 double chain Locomobile. A 1910 Stanley which Melton owns will be driven by Harold Young. On the latter will be a special Connecticut license plate, "Gent," issued in tribute to its ancient reputation as "the gentleman's speedy roadster."

Among other collectors in the race are Francis V. Dupont, Wilmington, Del., driving a 1911 Oldsmobile, and B. J. Pollard, Detroit, with a 1907 White.

Altogether, 36 makes of cars will be included, 10 of which are still manufactured. Among the one-time greats are Pierce-Arrow, Crane-Simplex, Mercer, EMF, Maxwell, Whiting, Franklin, Babcock, Stutz, Overland, Autocar, Hupp, Reo, Sears, Rambler, Brush, Rosmer, and a 1916 Brockway-LaFrance torpedo fire-truck.

Most of the entrants will carry two or three passengers. The most ancient vehicle entered is a 1904 Olds.

"We owners of veteran cars are doing this thing for the fun of it," explains Melton, "and to bring back something from the old days that this age of atomic bombs and 1946 model cars seems to lack. Anyway, most of our wives think we're crazy."

Marshal of the procession will be Mrs. H. R. W. Finn, Jersey City, N. J., a hobbyist who will drive the only late-model car, a '42 Ford. Accompanying the caravan will be a truck supplied with specially-made proper size tires for the old cars in case of flats. Along the route, service stations are to have vintage no-lead gasoline and a supply of kerosene for steam-driven cars.

Get out your duster and goggles, mom, we're on our way.

Molotov Explains His Stand Towards Italian Settlement

(By Associated Press)

PARIS, Aug. 13—Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov told the Paris Peace conference today "Fascist Italy bears a tremendous responsibility" but that "does not mean that Italy should lose her importance as a power in the Mediterranean."

Speaking in response to pleas for leniency expressed Saturday by Premier Alcide De Gasperi of Italy, Molotov paid tribute to the "historic services rendered by Italy."

He said the Soviet people were "confident for the future of Italy as a great country."

He added, however, that De Gasperi's address was an "attempt to evade the fundamental problems of Italy's democratic resurgence."

"The head of the Italian delegation failed to condemn Fascism. He failed to make a single remark against the work of Mussolini, Molotov declared."

Attempt To Separate

He said Italy's demand for postponement was an attempt "to exploit divergencies in the views between the Allies," and was based on the hope that "it will be possible to upset certain compromises of the Foreign Ministers' council."

In passing, he also bespoke opposition to the suggestion that final settlement for Italy await the German peace terms, declaring: "Peace with Germany can have no bearing whatever on Trieste."

Molotov recalled that it was only after the Russian victory at Stalingrad and the allied victories in North Africa and Southern Italy that Italy got out of the war and "began to reorganize on a democratic basis."

It was not easy for the new Italy

to stand firm after the downfall of Fascism. . . . Italy can not become a democratic country unless she roots out the last vestiges of Fascism," he said.

Molotov charged that "certain powers are trying to gain power in the Mediterranean at the expense of Italy and France," and said both countries should "feel responsibility as Mediterranean states."

Must Make Changes
To stand on its feet, Molotov said, "Italy must carry out radical changes. The new Italy must have the support of all nations."

He said the assertions of De Gasperi were "the claims of the old imperialist Italy and not of the genuine new democratic Italy."

Molotov recalled that Italy had used Latia as a base for invasion of Yugoslavia. He added, however, that "the time has passed when the Slav people are the object of attacks by neighboring states."

CAR DEALERS TO RECEIVE SECOND PRICE ADJUSTMENT
Yesterday's Hike Restored Profit, New Rise To Up Handling Cost

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 13—OPA went to work today on still another boost in automobile prices—one slated to push around 25 percent the total average hike over 1942 ceilings.

With authorized prices already about 22 percent higher than the level of four years ago, OPA officials met with dealer representatives to thresh out the amount of the next increase.

Like the average 7.3 percent boost piled yesterday on top of a previous 15 percent rise, the imminent additional price hike is required by the new price control law.

Must Hike Handling Charge
Yesterday's increase, ranging from $2 to $32 a car, restored dealers' prewar profit margins, as ordered by congress. OPA had cut these before the controversy began over whether to keep the price control agency in existence.

Now OPA has to re-establish dealers' prewar handling charges, which it also reduced. These charges cover the expense of a final check-up on new cars.

OPA officials previously had estimated that the handling charge adjustment would require a further five percent increase in retail ceilings. Today they revised this downward to about three percent.

The auto price increase on tap will be the fifth on top of 1942 ceilings since last November. In addition to yesterday's profit-restoring increase, there have been boosts to offset (1) a rise in labor and materials costs during the war, (2) wage increases granted early this year, and (3) higher steel prices authorized in February.

Following its announcement of the 7.3 percent increase—an average of $2 a car—OPA released figures yesterday showing that ceilings on four-door sedans now range from $134 higher on a Hudson to $846 higher on a Cadillac than ceilings on comparable 1942 models.

The increases over June 30 ceilings on these four-door models range from $69 on a Chevrolet to $293 on a Cadillac.

PALESTINE FUSS GROWING WORSE

HAIFA, Palestine, Aug. 13—The British deported 1,000 illegal Jewish immigrants to Cyprus today aboard two troopships while mobs of young Jews, aroused by the outlawed Hagana radio, rioted in the troop-filled streets.

But another 650 illegal Jewish immigrants arrived off the harbor of this half-Jewish, half-Arab port aboard the sloop Fenicebm.

The rioting Jews stoned troops of the British first infantry division, guarding the docks, and police.

The Hagana radio called on residents of Haifa to "storm the streets" and break the curfew, which the British imposed while the Jews were being loaded for deportation.

Even the Arab quarters in Haifa joined in defiance of the curfew. The Arabs, however, caused little disturbance.

Jewish residents streamed down hillside streets toward the docks a few minutes after the last refugees were loaded.

The British first infantry division, called into action, quickly threw a cordon around the docks, but only after nearly 2,000 persons had streamed down King's Way which parallels the Quays.

The curfew breakers, mostly young men, hurled stones at police and milled around the entrances to the docks.

The demonstration began, however, only after the troopships had been loaded and were under way.

500 Leave First
Approximately 500 illegal Jewish immigrants who had spent 32 hours aboard a ship anchored in the harbor within sight of their "promised land" were the first to sail this morning.

The sailing was in accordance with an announcement last night in London that the British government intended to halt all illegal immigration to Palestine and that Jews arriving in Palestine ports without proper papers would be removed to Cyprus or some other detention point.

Those aboard the first deportation ship were passengers from the dingy little auxiliary schooner Yagur, which arrived here only yesterday after a trip from Southern France.

After being debarked from the Yagur, the refugees walked along 50 feet of docks under the guard of British soldiers and then moved up the gangplank of the British troopship, Empire Royal.

The refugees were advised by loudspeaker at dawn of their impending transfer to the Empire Royal and were urged by British officers to go peacefully aboard the Empire Royal, where they were promised fair treatment.

Forced Off Ships
An hour later, however, the immigrants had made no move to comply, and British troops boarded the Yagur and forced them to quit the ship.

Cries of "Fascist" and "Nazi" arose from the refugees during the transfer.

The Empire Royal was equipped with barred wire cages for the voyage.

Approximately 540 more immigrants from the refugee ship Henrietta Solid were to be loaded later in the day aboard the troopship Empire Helwood for the 16-hour trip to Cyprus.

There the refugees will be housed in camps which originally were built for German prisoners of war.

Most of the refugees from the Yagur appeared sullen. Only a few, however, offered resistance and had to be carried aboard.

The docks bristled with heavily armed troops and armor during the ship-to-ship transfer. All Haifa had been placed under strict curfew beginning at 1 a. m.

Nearly a dozen tank destroyers were among the armor in evidence.

LEGION BAND TO APPEAR IN STATE PARADE

Will Attend Convention In Cleveland For Salem Post

The Quaker City band, representing the Charles H. Carey Post, No. 56, American Legion, will appear Monday in the Legion parade at the state convention at Cleveland.

In addition, the post will send four delegates to the convention, Friday through Monday. They will be: E. J. Rich, Ralph Hawley, Harmon E. Zepernick and Chester Kridler. Many other Salem members will also attend.

First Band In Parade
The Quaker City band, directed by George Chappell, will be the first marching band ever to represent the Salem post at any convention and will be one of the largest units in the parade. Previously the Carey post has been represented by a drum corps only.

The unit is slated to head the Columbiana county section in the second division of the parade. Following the parade they will give a concert in the lobby of the Carter hotel, convention headquarters.

Chappell announced today a rehearsal for the band at 8 p. m. Thursday at Reilly field. Following a marching drill, they will move to the Memorial building for a complete musical rehearsal. Due to the increased size of the band, practices cannot be held at the Legion home as before.

The local musicians will be at the state convention Monday only, leaving Salem by bus at 12:30 p. m. Chappell stated that although the unit will be without uniforms, they will wear identical shirts, pants and ties.

Attempted Escape By Inmate Thwarted

LIMA, Aug. 13—A thwarted attempt to break free of the Lima State hospital for the criminal insane, using a smuggled hacksaw blade, was disclosed today by Supt. R. E. Bushong.

Bushong said Dennis Dolan, an inmate recently transferred from Ohio penitentiary, sawed through bars leading from his room to a corridor, overpowered a guard and forced him to change clothes.

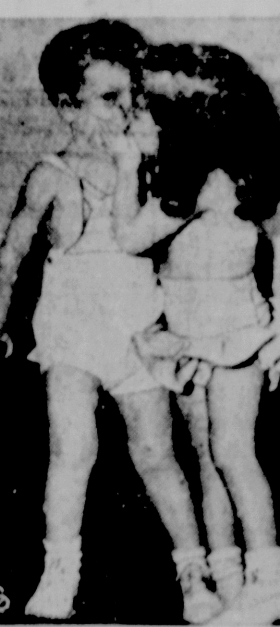

The prisoner, holding the blade at the guard's neck, marched him to the barred door leading to the administration quarters. Bushong said Dolan forced two other guards to open the door with the threat to kill his hostage.

As the door opened, the superintendent said, the first guard dove to the floor and the other guards overpowered Dolan.

May Pay Rubbermen 'Portal To Portal'

AKRON, Aug. 13—An employee's suit for "portal to portal" pay, reimbursement for all time spent in the plant's gates, was recorded today for what was believed the first time in the rubber industry.

The suit was filed in common pleas court yesterday against B. F. Goodrich Co. on behalf of Merrill A. Sayre, asking pay for: "Time spent entering the gates, for the time spent in reaching the locker room, time spent in changing clothes, getting tools, checking in, and thence to his respective job."

About 25 minutes per day, the petition estimated, was consumed inside the gate without compensation.

Mining and several other industries already pay on a "portal to portal" basis.

Foresight By Hindsight

Every urban community in the United States has an automobile parking problem. In towns and small cities it is merely bothersome. In the nation's largest cities it is acute. Cursed by lack of foresight that made no allowance for congested streets, at least five large cities are now using hindsight to save the next generation some of the congestion that plagues them.

New York, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Philadelphia and Detroit are busy with plans to create vast underground parking spaces to take thousands of automobiles off the streets. Their plans have this significant common characteristic: all of them are being pushed by the municipalities themselves. It is being recognized belatedly that the parking problem has become too important to be solved piecemeal by private enterprise. But there is this further common characteristic: that all of the plans envision private operation of facilities developed by public enterprise, with the municipalities recovering their capital through rentals and fees.

It is of the utmost significance that this is happening before production of new automobiles has reached major proportions. When automobile manufacturers add millions of new cars to the total already crowding the streets, the parking problem will become as acute in smaller cities as it now is in the largest cities. Any city planning which does not include ways and means of relieving traffic congestion 10, 15 and 20 years in the future will be as shortsighted and inadequate as the planning—or lack of planning—which is responsible for congestion today.

Getting Used To It

The sharpest words heard so far in international debate were spoken in Paris last week by Secretary of State Byrnes, commenting on the tactics of the foreign minister of Russia. Mr. Molotov on his part had provoked criticism with some of the most annoying tactics witnessed in postwar diplomacy.

But there is a curious aspect to these events. They would have disconcerted the American audience if they had occurred six months ago. Today, however, they are being taken in stride. There is a feeling that it is better to have the differences between the United States and Russia aired freely, both at Paris and in the United Nations security council meeting at New York, than to know that the differences exist, but remain concealed.

There is a further feeling that as far as international relations are concerned, the very act of airing the differences may help to make them disappear in time. In the United States there is a precedent for this that is familiar to every citizen—the airing of differences in Congress and in the press. It is recognized as a vital part of the process of reaching agreement. Americans are reassured, rather than disturbed, by acrimonious debate and violent differences of opinion over such things as voting procedure.

If what is happening in the U. N. security council and the peace conference is the tentative beginning of a kind of world government, it is not to be expected that decisions will be reached harmoniously. They will be reached as they have been reached in our own government—by driving hard bargains with hard tactics and hard words. Getting used to it may well be one of the requirements. If so, the United States can take comfort in the fact it has learned to follow debate and parliamentary maneuvering in Congress without expecting another civil war every time statesmen clash. Perhaps we are witnessing the beginning of the same thing in international negotiations.

Bilbo Becomes A Symbol

It would be foolish and dangerous for the critics and belittlers of Senator Bilbo of Mississippi to ignore the possibility of building him up to major stature as a rabble-rouser by giving him too much attention.

They have seen the result in Mississippi primary voting of singling out Bilbo for attention. He won his nomination handily despite what was expected to be telling criticism. If anyone doubts that the possibility of danger exists, it is necessary only to remember how the late Huey Long was able to grow from a local demagog to a national influence with the unwitting assistance of his opponents.

Bilbo came to the United States Senate in 1935 and was reelected in 1940. It is probable he will be reelected this November and will serve, if he lives out his term, until 1953. When he came to Washington in 1935, he was three-sheeted in advance as a formidable competitor of Huey Long, who had been elected to the senate from Louisiana in 1930. The advance billing did not turn out; Bilbo was permitted to find his natural level in Congress, which was generally conceded to be that of the least able man in the upper house.

Today, he has become something more than that—the symbolic leader of a confused minority whose prejudices challenge the survival of this and all other republics. He is the same Bilbo—the same man who was relatively unknown for years—but now delivering his diatribes of hate and ignorance in a spotlight focused on him by his critics. They should give careful thought to what they are doing. The nation has enough problems without helping the rump little demagog from Mississippi to rally his potential followers in 47 other states.

The Line Is Tapped

Increasing use of devices to record telephone conversations, whose legality has been challenged under the section of the federal communications act prohibiting interception and divulging private wire and radio messages, is conducted by the Federal Communications Commission, with an important proviso.

The proviso is that the devices should be installed and maintained by the company supplying communication service and their use made known to persons using the service by a characteristic signal. The FCC will receive opinions on this recommendation up to Sept. 20.

The objection never has been to the recording of such messages, which has become a facility of great usefulness. The objection has been and is now to the recording of such messages without the knowledge of the person who is being put on record. It is the difference between spying and asking permission to gather information.

The utilities involved have the heaviest stake in the wise handling of the new practice. Confidence in their service could be undermined by suspicion of spying. But if their clients are told that the wires are tapped and what they are saying is going on record at their own risk, confidence can be maintained. A great many things that have been said over telephone lines would be said only in face-to-face conversation, or not at all, which in many cases would be a net improvement.

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

Victory Again For Penicillin

BY HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.
WHEN the marvelous healing properties of penicillin were first discovered, supplies were so short that mercy demanded they be used only against violent, acute and fatal infections.

Today, fortunately, there is more than enough of this yellow magic for the very ill, and so doctors have been able to test its effects in others less dangerous ailments. One of these, in which recent work with penicillin seems hopeful is bronchiectasis.

Bronchi Enlarged

In bronchiectasis the bronchi of the small tubes in the lungs, through which air passes, are enlarged. There is a combination of inflammation and wasting of the tissues, with the result that scar lining membrane in various spots.

Symptoms are usually confined to bouts of coughing during which a great deal of sputum with a bad odor is brought up. Once started, the disorder grows progressively worse, until at last, the patient may be made miserable by the persistent cough.

So far as is known, there is no way to restore the normal structure of the bronchi once bronchiectasis has developed. But according to Dr. Sydney Bassin and his co-workers of New York, treatment with penicillin does much to check the symptoms. Their work gives hope that in the future this disease may be controlled before permanent damage to the bronchi has been done.

Three ways of administering the penicillin were tried by the New York doctors. It was given by injection into a muscle, by breathing it into the windpipe and bronchi, and by a combination of these methods. The treatment was carried out on ten men and two women. The patients varied in age from 16 to 30 years.

X-Ray Diagnosis

The diagnosis was made in every case by means of the X-ray. Before the X-ray was taken, a compound of iodine was instilled into the lungs to make the bronchi visible in the X-ray plate.

The bronchiectasis developed following pneumonia in ten of the patients and after whooping cough and influenza in the other two. The symptoms had been present for more than ten years in all but two of the patients. The length of treatment varied from four to 115 days. It was found that best results were obtained when it was given by breathing it into the windpipe.

As a result of the treatment, it was found that the amount of sputum was considerably lessened, its odor was removed and there was a great improvement in the symptoms. These changes were maintained as long as the penicillin was continued. When the treatment was stopped, the symptoms tended to come back again.

It seems that in controlling bronchiectasis it may be necessary to continue the penicillin treatment indefinitely, but in view of the good results obtained, such treatment would appear worth while.

Letters to Dr. Bundesen should be addressed in care of 235 E. 45th st., New York City.

GENERAL SPEAKS AT VICTORY CEREMONY

EAST LIVERPOOL, Aug. 13.—Brigadier General Robert S. Beightler of Columbus, wartime commander of Ohio's Thirty-seventh Division, appealed for a "national defense policy that will insure the ideals, dignity and security of the Republic" Monday night in opening this Portery City's five-day victory celebration honoring its 4,570 veterans of World War II.

Police estimated 10,000 persons greeted General Beightler. His address followed presentation of patriotic service medals to surviving veterans and the next of kin of 127 war dead by Congressman Earl R. Lewis of St. Clairsville, representing the Eighteenth Ohio district, in front of the City Hall honor roll.

Getting Used To It

The sharpest words heard so far in international debate were spoken in Paris last week by Secretary of State Byrnes, commenting on the tactics of the foreign minister of Russia. Mr. Molotov on his part had provoked criticism with some of the most annoying tactics witnessed in postwar diplomacy.

But there is a curious aspect to these events. They would have disconcerted the American audience if they had occurred six months ago. Today, however, they are being taken in stride. There is a feeling that it is better to have the differences between the United States and Russia aired freely, both at Paris and in the United Nations security council meeting at New York, than to know that the differences exist, but remain concealed.

There is a further feeling that as far as international relations are concerned, the very act of airing the differences may help to make them disappear in time. In the United States there is a precedent for this. That is familiar to every citizen—the airing of differences in Congress and in the press. It is recognized as a vital part of the process of reaching agreement. Americans are reassured, rather than disturbed, by acrimonious debate and violent differences of opinion over such things as voting procedure.

If what is happening in the U. N. security council and the peace conference is the tentative beginning of a kind of world government, it is not to be expected that decisions will be reached harmoniously. They will be reached as they have been reached in our own government—by driving hard bargains with hard tactics and hard words. Getting used to it may well be one of the requirements. If so, the United States can take comfort in the fact it has learned to follow debate and parliamentary maneuvering in Congress without expecting another civil war every time statesmen clash. Perhaps we are witnessing the beginning of the same thing in international negotiations.

Bilbo Becomes A Symbol

It would be foolish and dangerous for the critics and belittlers of Senator Bilbo of Mississippi to ignore the possibility of building him up to major stature as a rabble-rouser by giving him too much attention.

They have seen the result in Mississippi primary voting of singling out Bilbo for attention. He won his nomination handily despite what was expected to be telling criticism. If anyone doubts that the possibility of danger exists, it is necessary only to remember how the late Huey Long was able to grow from a local demagog to a national influence with the unwitting assistance of his opponents.

Bilbo came to the United States Senate in 1935 and was reelected in 1940. It is probable he will be reelected this November and will serve, if he lives out his term, until 1953. When he came to Washington in 1935, he was three-sheeted in advance as a formidable competitor of Huey Long, who had been elected to the senate from Louisiana in 1930. The advance billing did not turn out; Bilbo was permitted to find his natural level in Congress, which was generally conceded to be that of the least able man in the upper house.

Today, he has become something more than that—the symbolic leader of a confused minority whose prejudices challenge the survival of this and all other republics. He is the same Bilbo—the same man who was relatively unknown for years—but now delivering his diatribes of hate and ignorance in a spotlight focused on him by his critics. They should give careful thought to what they are doing. The nation has enough problems without helping the rump little demagog from Mississippi to rally his potential followers in 47 other states.

The Line Is Tapped

Increasing use of devices to record telephone conversations, whose legality has been challenged under the section of the federal communications act prohibiting interception and divulging private wire and radio messages, is conducted by the Federal Communications Commission, with an important proviso.

The proviso is that the devices should be installed and maintained by the company supplying communication service and their use made known to persons using the service by a characteristic signal. The FCC will receive opinions on this recommendation up to Sept. 20.

The objection never has been to the recording of such messages, which has become a facility of great usefulness. The objection has been and is now to the recording of such messages without the knowledge of the person who is being put on record. It is the difference between spying and asking permission to gather information.

The utilities involved have the heaviest stake in the wise handling of the new practice. Confidence in their service could be undermined by suspicion of spying. But if their clients are told that the wires are tapped and what they are saying is going on record at their own risk, confidence can be maintained. A great many things that have been said over telephone lines would be said only in face-to-face conversation, or not at all, which in many cases would be a net improvement.

Victory Again For Penicillin

BY HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

WHEN the marvelous healing properties of penicillin were first discovered, supplies were so short that mercy demanded they be used only against violent, acute and fatal infections.

Today, fortunately, there is more than enough of this yellow magic for the very ill, and so doctors have been able to test its effects in others less dangerous ailments. One of these, in which recent work with penicillin seems hopeful is bronchiectasis.

Bronchi Enlarged

In bronchiectasis the bronchi or the small tubes in the lungs, through which air passes, are enlarged. There is a combination of inflammation and wasting of the tissues, with the result that scar lining membrane in various spots.

Symptoms are usually confined to bouts of coughing during which a great deal of sputum with a bad odor is brought up. Once started, the disorder grows progressively worse, until at last, the patient may be made miserable by the persistent cough.

So far as is known, there is no way to restore the normal structure of the bronchi once bronchiectasis has developed. But according to Dr. Sydney Bassin and his co-workers of New York, treatment with penicillin does much to check the symptoms. Their work gives hope that in the future this disease may be controlled before permanent damage to the bronchi has been done.

Three ways of administering the penicillin were tried by the New York doctors. It was given by injection into a muscle, by breathing it into the windpipe and bronchi, and by a combination of these methods. The treatment was carried out on ten men and two women. The patients varied in age from 16 to 30 years.

X-Ray Diagnosis

The diagnosis was made in every case by means of the X-ray. Before the X-ray was taken, a compound of iodine was instilled into the lungs to make the bronchi visible in the X-ray plate.

The bronchiectasis developed following pneumonia in ten of the patients and after whooping cough and influenza in the other two. The symptoms had been present for more than ten years in all but two of the patients. The length of treatment varied from four to 115 days. It was found that best results were obtained when it was given by breathing it into the windpipe.

As a result of the treatment, it was found that the amount of sputum was considerably lessened, its odor was removed and there was a great improvement in the symptoms. These changes were maintained as long as the penicillin was continued. When the treatment was stopped, the symptoms tended to come back again.

It seems that in controlling bronchiectasis it may be necessary to continue the penicillin treatment indefinitely, but in view of the good results obtained, such treatment would appear worth while.

Letters to Dr. Bundesen should be addressed in care of 235 E. 45th st., New York City.

GENERAL SPEAKS AT VICTORY CEREMONY

EAST LIVERPOOL, Aug. 13—

Brigadier General Robert S. Beightler of Columbus, wartime commander of Ohio's Thirty-seventh Division, appealed for a "national defense policy that will insure the ideals, dignity and security of the Republic" Monday night in opening this Pottery City's five-day victory celebration honoring its 4,570 veterans of World War II.

Police estimated 10,000 persons greeted General Beightler. His address followed presentation of patriotic service medals to surviving veterans and the next of kin of 127 war dead by Congressman Earl R. Lewis of St. Clairsville, representing the Eighteenth Ohio district, in front of the City Hall honor roll.

The jet engine and the conventional propeller spun by a piston engine perform the same function in flight basically. They both induct large volumes of air, blast it rearward with stepped up velocity and surge forward from the reaction.

Let-Downs Plague From '76 to '46

If present-day shortages, inflation threats and unrest are giving you a hangover after the glowing expectations nurtured in war years, you can reflect upon the let-downs which have recurrently beset the U. S. for a time after every preceding major conflict.

When peace came in 1781, the victorious colonists faced a chaotic business depression and rampant political ills that dogged them for six years. Taxes were higher than they had ever been under British rule and there was very little money to pay them with. Foreign currency or state notes were used, and it had mostly come to rest in the pockets of a few. Poverty stalked the cities; men could be imprisoned for debt, farm foreclosures were frequent because homesteaders had no cash. When they tried to migrate to the new western lands, they found that the speculators had beaten them to the best tracts.

When the Civil war ended in 1865, Northerners looked forward to a golden age. Business boomed, but financial crisis and political scandals brought bitter disillusionment. After the first World war the United States plunged into speculation and isolationism.

Let-Downs Plague
From '76 to '46

If present-day shortages, inflation threats and unrest are giving you a hangover after the glowing expectations nurtured in war years, you can reflect upon the let-downs which have recurrently beset the U. S. for a time after every preceding major conflict.

When peace came in 1781, the victorious colonists faced a chaotic business depression and rampant political ills that dogged them for six years. Taxes were higher than they had ever been under British rule and there was very little money to pay them with. Foreign currency or state notes were used, and it had mostly come to rest in the pockets of a few. Poverty stalked the cities; men could be imprisoned for debt; farm foreclosures were frequent because homesteaders had no cash. When they tried to migrate to the new western lands, they found that the speculators had beaten them to the best tracts.

When the Civil war ended in 1865, Northerners looked forward to a golden age. Business boomed, but financial crisis and political scandals brought bitter disillusionment. After the first World war, the United States plunged into speculation and isolationism.

News Notes Of Activities
Of Ohio Senators,
Representatives

By EARL BERKLEY
(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—The 75th congress is gone—unless President Truman calls a special session—but Ohioans left a few interesting bills and put some speeches in the record before they left for home.

The bills are merely a gesture since all pending legislation dies with an adjourned congress. They can, of course, be reintroduced next year.

A measure by Rep. Walter B. Huber of Akron attracted considerable attention among lawyers and criminologists. It would abolish capital punishment.

Rep. Earl R. Lewis of St. Clairsville introduced a bill to adjust duties on imported goods in a manner to prevent unfair competition with foreign producers with Americans who have to pay higher wages. Lewis's bill is aimed particularly at pottery and glass ware imported from Japan. Lewis says that Great Britain can ship pottery and other goods to the United States and sell at lower prices than can the Americans.

Two broad investigations by congress were proposed by Rep. Al Weichel of Sandusky. He wants an investigation of the maritime commission and other agencies to find out what became of 21 billion dollars during hurried construction of ships for war.

His other bill would order an inquiry into what physical properties are owned by the federal government and where they are. Weichel insists no one is authorized to keep a check on such property, that some of it can be disposed of without anyone knowing much about it.

Legislation introduced months ago by Rep. George H. Bender would set up a new department for aviation with a secretary of cabinet rank. Without such a department, he says, the United States will have a tough sledding trying to maintain its supremacy in the air.

Myer, Hebron Man, New Federal Housing Head

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—Dillon S. Myer of Hebron, took over his duties today under an interim appointment as commissioner of the federal public housing authority.

The former director of the war relocation authority succeeds Philip M. Klutznick, who resigned June 30.

Appointed Aug. 10 by President Truman, Myer is subject to confirmation by the senate in the final day of the last session because of an objection by Senator Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio).

With Murder of Ex-Wife

BELLEFONTAINE, Aug. 13.—Charged with second-degree murder in the death of his former wife, Herman Laycock, 33, Lima floor covering salesman, was held for the grand jury yesterday by Magistrate L. E. Marquis.

The magistrate fixed Laycock's bond at $10,000.

The body of Mrs. Ciella Laycock, 34, Chicago, Ill., was found at Indian lake last June 18.

Under Counter Sale

LOOKS like some under-the-counter sales were being made in Bury, England. But actually it's handier for dwarf waiter Alf Roberts to bring the tall ones in the short way pictured here. (International)

The 1940 grapefruit crop of more than 43,000,000 boxes was a thousandfold increase since 1899.

Household Hints

Cold or hot tea may be deliciously flavored by adding sprigs of curly mint, apple mint, orange mint, spearmint, lemon balm or lemon thyme.

For good circulation of air around a refrigerator, allow three or four inches of space at the back and at least ten inches above so that condenser coils may become properly cooled.

Make the most of those luscious sun ripened tomatoes. A whole tomato, cored and stuffed with any filling you may choose, offers a pleasing and economical dish. Left over fish, chicken or meat make an excellent stuffing. So, too, do combinations of diced raw or cooked vegetables.

Frankfurters are a "natural" for use in casserole dishes. Try them with green beans and a cheese sauce, with lima beans and corn, with scalloped potatoes and onions.

Tomato juice becomes more tasty when it's allowed to stand for several hours with some chopped onion, celery, basil and tarragon. Before serving, strain it and then serve it cold with lemon or lime.

Serve a cool, flavorful jellied meat loaf on a hot summer day. It's as tempting a dish as you can bring into the menu. Another asset of a jellied loaf is the fact that it is made well in advance of the meal.

Behind The Scenes In Washington

News Notes Of Activities Of Ohio Senators, Representatives

By EARL BERKLEY
(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13 — The 79th congress is gone—unless President Truman calls a special session—but Ohioans left a few interesting bills and put some speeches in the record before they left for home.

The bills are merely a gesture since all pending legislation dies with an adjourned congress. They can, of course, be reintroduced next year.

A measure by Rep. Walter B. Huber of Akron attracted considerable attention among lawyers and criminologists. It would abolish capital punishment.

Rep. Earl R. Lewis of St. Clairsville introduced a bill to adjust duties on imported goods in a manner to prevent unfair competition by foreign producers with Americans who have to pay higher wages. Lewis' bill is aimed particularly at pottery and glass ware imported from Japan.

Two broad investigations by congress were proposed by Rep. Al Weichel of Sandusky. He wants an investigation of the maritime commission and other agencies to find out "what became of 21 billion dollars" during hurried construction of ships for war.

His other bill would order an inquiry into what physical properties are owned by the federal government and where they are. Weichel insists no one is authorized to keep a check on such property, that some of it can be disposed of without anyone knowing much about it.

Legislation introduced months ago by Rep. George H. Bender would set up a new department for aviation with a secretary of cabinet rank. Without such a department he says, the United States will have a tough sledding trying to maintain its supremacy in the air.

Word is going quietly around that Rep. Frances Bolton is toying with the idea of running for governor "some time." Ohio's first woman member of congress isn't considering such a step in the immediate future. She'd like to stay in congress for at least four more years.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, Aug. 13.—Backed by the hopes of more than a score of Ohio's equipment-hungry colleges, Gov. Frank J. Lausche expected to fly to Washington today for a day's conference with the War Assets Corp.

Acting as emissary for the state's six state-supported universities and at least 16 other colleges, the governor planned to talk with Kenneth E. Royall, undersecretary of War, and other officials on the feasibility of procuring materials ranging from classroom chairs to laboratory equipment.

President John C. Baker of Ohio university, Athens, who preceded him to the nation's capitol, will accompany Lausche.

Schools requesting equipment—mainly because of anticipated heavy fall enrollments—include: Ohio State, Miami, Bowling Green, Wilberforce, Kent, Denison, Hiram, Defiance, Antioch, Muskingum, Wilmington, Capital, Kenyon, Youngstown, Marietta, Heidelberg, Wittenberg, Toledo, Wooster, Mt. Union and Akron.

Household Hints

Cold or hot tea may be deliciously flavored by adding sprigs of curly mint, apple mint, orange mint, spearmint, lemon balm or lemon thyme.

For good circulation of air around a refrigerator, allow three or four inches of space at the back and at least ten inches above so that condenser coils may become properly cooled.

Make the most of those luscious sun ripened tomatoes. A whole tomato, cored and stuffed with any filling you may choose, offers a pleasing and economical dish. Left over fish, chicken or meat make an excellent stuffing. So, too, do combinations of diced raw or cooked vegetables.

Frankfurters are a "natural" for use in casseroles dishes. Try them with green beans and a cheese sauce, with lima beans and corn, with scalloped potatoes and onions.

Tomato juice becomes more tasty when it's allowed to stand for several hours with some chopped onion, celery, basil and tarragon. Before serving, strain it and then serve it cold with lemon or lime.

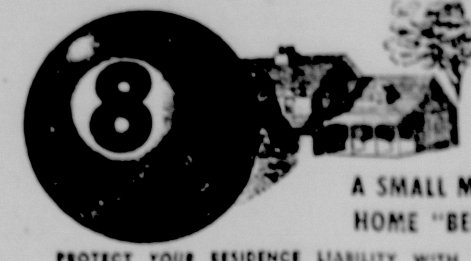

Serve a cool, flavorful jelled meat loaf on a hot summer day. It's as tempting a dish as you can serve and at the same time it brings meat into the menu. Another asset of a jelled loaf is the fact that it is made well in advance of the meal.

Every jar of home-canned food adds to the world's short supplies by saving plentiful foods from going to waste.

By DON E. BEATTIE, News Sports Editor

INTERPRETATION OF softball player eligibility rules in the Class A leagues here is a most difficult problem—in fact an almost impossible job!

That was borne out very convincingly by the recent refusal to uphold a protest by Leetonia of the use of an allegedly ineligible Eagle catcher in a game with the Eagles at Centennial park a week ago Friday.

Commissioner Joe Reese said in his decision that he could find no concrete ruling stating that a player, changing teams during a round of play, must get permission from all the managers in the league before he can compete.

In addition, Reese said, the player in question had played several games with the Eagles prior to the protest, one of them being an earlier encounter with Leetonia.

DESPITE THE FACT that Commissioner Reese was undoubtedly doing his level best to uphold the rules of the league and to act fairly and without bias, it still remains that his decision is an exact reversal of at least one ruling made by him within the past two seasons of play. The rules, incidentally, have not been changed.

Two years ago, despite an almost complete dismissal of eligibility rules then because of wartime player shortages, Commissioner Reese forced The Salem News and Demings to re-play a game because The News had recruited two ineligible players from the stands and used them without the permission of the Demings manager.

It was a mere technicality at the time, but because a rule had been broken and a protest formally filed, Reese ruled that the game must be played again.

IT IS HARD TO criticize a man in the commissioner's position. It is far more easy to admire his sincerity and interest in undertaking his thankless job without so much as a written set of rules to back him up in his decisions. He has only the "unwritten law" of Salem's league on which to go.

The lack of proper written rules regarding player eligibility in Salem is the most glaring fault to be found with the otherwise well-oiled organization.

Reese can hardly be blamed if he "cannot locate a concrete ruling on this matter." He can't because there isn't any definite place to look. Regulations used this year and in the past three years are simply verbal arrangements, some of which aren't generally known until the case in point is brought up.

WITH NO PARTICULAR preference for Leetonia's cause, any observer can see the answer to Reese's second statement, that "the player had played several games with the Eagles prior to the protest, one of them being an earlier encounter with Leetonia," fails to hold water.

In the first place, Leetonia had little or no interest in a protest previously. In the one game in which the teams met the player was used, the Crescents won the game and the Eagles protested an umpire's decision and forced the later game.

Leetonia had a deep interest in both games, for the Crescents would now be in first place had the game not been re-played or had they won the replay. It stands to reason that a team will not protest a game they have won, but it also goes right along the same line that Leetonia was within its rights to protest the later game.

Two wrongs do not make a right, and consequently the number of times the catcher was used does not make him eligible.

REGARDLESS OF THE outlook, a rule was broken and is being broken each time the Eagles use the same player. The Eagles are not the only team breaking eligibility rules. At least two teams, both in the American league, are or have used new players in the final round of play. This is definitely contrary to an old existing regulation—but it, too, isn't written down.

That section of the rule says that no team can recruit new players in the final round of a season. The new round began last week and new players have been used. Protests, however, would apparently be of little avail as the precedent is set by the Leetonia ruling.

Consequently, from all indications, the importing of team-strengthening players to bolster a

Sinclair Defeats Leetonia While Eagles Are Eliminated

One more team was eliminated from the American league round robin Monday night as the Sip N Bite handed the Eagles a surprising beating, 10-3, while the Sinclair Oilers were springing another upset in edging out Leetonia 3-2.

The defeat was the second of the round for the Eagles and drops them from further play.

The Oilers and Crescents tangled in the most exciting game of the evening and went right down to the wire with the issue in doubt.

Sinclair drew first blood in the second frame when Bob Miller singled, was sacrificed to second, and scored on two passed balls.

Leetonia came right back with one of their own in the top of the third on a single by Ed Duco and Bob Weikart and a double by Larry Duco.

The score remained knotted until the last inning when the Crescents scored a run on Neil Keselmyers double and Glenn O'to's single.

Things looked black for Sinclair, who must win all their games in the round robin to make the playoffs, as they came up in the last of the seventh. Bob Miller got the game, however, and when Manager "Buck" Ritchie shot his second hit of the game to right field, Miller steamed into third.

The throw from the outfield got away from Third Baseman Reese and Miller scored. When Reese threw wild to the plate, Ritchie scampered across with the winning run.

Chet Brautigam, the winning hurler, pitched nice ball all the way, allowing seven hits, fanning three and as usual, walking none. John Chappell for Leetonia also had a good night, as he allowed but six bingles and fanned four. He too, had perfect control.

Bob Miller increased his batting lead over the rest of the field with a two for three night, bringing his mark up to .488. Manager Ritchie had a perfect night for Sinclair with two hits in two trips.

The first tilt of the evening was an unexpected victory for the lowly Sip N Bites. With the Eagles leading 4-3 at the end of the third, the victory for "Doggie" Scullion's homer with one on in that inning, the restaurant lads came back to pound out 10 hits and seven more runs to ice the game.

They had three innings in which they scored three times; the third, fourth and sixth. The heavy stickmen for Sip N Bite were Jackie Rance with three for four, Dick Boughton, Bob Chappell and Don Milligan, all with two hits apiece. Rance is currently hitting .483, although he is two games short of having played in three-fourths of his team's games. Not a long ball hitter, Rance is probably the fastest man in the loop on the paths.

Bob Chappell worked the game on the hill for the winners and allowed the losing Eagles but six hits, while his team clipped Henry Dermotta for 13. Chappell fanned six and walked three, as compared to Dermotta's two and three.

Dick Scullion, with two doubles and Delbert Fowler with a pair of singles, led the Eagles at the dish. Tomorrow night Sinclair and Mullins, both undefeated in round robin play will tangle in the second game. The first tilt will see either the Ohio Grill or the Electric Furnace eliminated. Both games should attract a good crowd at Centennial park.

Bowling Center Dumps China, I. A. C. Wins Over Firestone

The Bowling Center of the National league finally passed the Salem China and moved into second place by thumping the Potters 3-2 Monday night at Centennial park.

Spurred by a one-hit pitching job by Bill Guappone, the Italian A.C. beat the tallend Firestones 7-1, to eliminate that team from further play this season.

The Bowling Center lads had to beat Dale Ritchie on one of his good nights to win their tilt, but they managed to come through.

They were blessed with the talents of Wayne Hahn, the winning pitcher, who let the China down with three singles. It was the second time this season the Center has measured the China.

Ritchie gave up only four hits, walked two and fanned a pair. Hahn walked one man and struck out none.

The winners got their first run in the fourth when Pitcher Hahn belted out a home run, and added two more in the seventh on two singles, a sacrifice and an error.

It was Lloyd Hahn's single in the last inning that provided the winning tally.

Wayne Hahn pitched no hit ball up till the seventh, although the China got a run in the fifth on a walk and two errors. He was touched for three straight singles in the last frame when the losers got their second run.

No one, of course, did any heavy hitting for either club, since only seven hits were made during the course of the game. Hahn's homer was the only extra base hit of the tilt.

The game leaves the Bowling Center on top in the round robin with three straight wins. Their closest threat, Washingtonville, has two wins and is scheduled to tangle with the Center tomorrow night.

The I. A. C.'s had no trouble beating the Firestone's after a five run first inning, which featured singles by "Tut" Guappone and his brother Bill and a rousing triple by Joe Zomerelli.

Bill Guappone had the situation in hand all the way as he fanned 10 Firestones and allowed only one base hit. He walked five, but kept the free tickets scattered. In the third inning, he struck out the side in order.

The Guappone brothers were the whole story of the game, as they each pumped out a pair of singles to lead the I.A.C. in batting. Joe Nonno and Joe Zomerelli had the other knocks.

Bill Rogers was the only Firestone hitter to solve Guappone's slants.

Louie Miller twirled for the losers and gave up six knocks, while walking two and fanning one. The victory gives the I.A.C. a one and one record in the round robin and pits them against the China in one of Thursday's games. The defeat, of course, drops Firestone for the year.

ALL-STAR BEGIN FINAL SCRIMMAGE

ALL-STAR BEGIN FINAL SCRIMMAGE

Toledo Waite Game Friday May See Powerful Aerial Displays From Stars

TOLEDO, Aug. 13.—Final scrimmages were ordered for the North and South football squads here today as their coaches sought one more look at them under game conditions prior to tapering off for the All-Star game at Waite stadium Friday night.

Paul Bixler, held at Ohio State through illness the first two practice days, watched his North players for the first time yesterday as they ran through two short scrimmage sessions and came up with a few player changes and considerable praise for the condition of the gridirers.

Brushes On Contact

Frank Leahy of Notre Dame gave his south players considerable contact work, but held off lining up one half of his squad against the other to give them more work on fundamentals.

Diamond Dust

By DON E. BEATTIE, News Sports Editor

INTERPRETATION OF softball player eligibility rules in the Class A leagues here is a most difficult problem—in fact an almost impossible job!

That was borne out very convincingly by the recent refusal to uphold a protest by Leetonia of the use of an allegedly ineligible Eagle catcher in a game with the Eagles at Centennial park a week ago Friday.

Commissioner Joe Reese said in his decision that he could find no concrete ruling stating that a player, changing teams during a round of play, must get permission from all the managers in the league before he can compete.

In addition, Reese said, the player in question had played several games with the Eagles prior to the protest, one of them being an earlier encounter with Leetonia.

DESPITE THE FACT that Commissioner Reese was undoubtedly doing his level best to uphold the rules of the league and to act fairly and without bias, it still remains that his decision is an exact reversal of at least one ruling made by him within the past two seasons of play. The rules, ironically, have not been changed.

Two years ago, despite an almost complete dismissal of eligibility rules then because of wartime player shortages, Commissioner Reese forced The Salem News and Demings to re-play a game because The News had recruited two ineligible players from the stands and used them without the permission of the Demings manager.

It was a mere technicality at the time, but because a rule had been broken and a protest formally filed, Reese ruled that the game must be played again.

IT IS HARD to criticize a man in the commissioner's position. It is far more easy to admire his sincerity and interest in undertaking his thankless job without so much as a written set of rules to back him up in his decisions. He has only the "unwritten law" of Salem's league on which to go.

The lack of proper written rules regarding player eligibility in Salem is the most glaring fault to be found with the otherwise well-oiled organization.

Reese can hardly be blamed if he "cannot locate a concrete ruling on this matter." He can't because there isn't any definite place to look. Regulations used this year and in the past three years are simply verbal arrangements, some of which aren't generally known until the case in point is brought up.

WITH NO PARTICULAR preference for Leetonia's cause, any observer can see the answer to Reese's second statement, that "the player had played several games with the Eagles prior to the protest, one of them being an earlier encounter with Leetonia," fails to hold water.

In the first place, Leetonia had little or no interest in a protest previously. In the one game in which the teams met the player was used, the Crescents won the game and the Eagles protested an umpire's decision and forced the later game.

Leetonia had a deep interest in both games, for the Crescents would now be in first place had the game not been re-played or had they won the replay. It stands to reason that a team will not protest a game they have won, but it also goes right along the same line that Leetonia was within its rights to protest the later game.

Two wrongs do not make a right, and consequently the number of times the catcher was used does not make him eligible.

REGARDLESS OF THE outlook, a rule was broken and is being broken each time the Eagles use the same player. The Eagles are not the only team breaking eligibility rules. At least two teams, both in the American league, are or have used new players in the final round of play. This is definitely contrary to an old existing regulation—but it, too, isn't written down.

That section of the rule says that no team can recruit new players in the final round of a season. The new round began last week and new players have been used. Protests, however, would apparently be of little avail as the precedent is set by the Leetonia ruling.

Consequently, from all indications, the importing of team-strengthening players to bolster a team in this rather important final round, or in the later Shagnessy playoffs, would be perfectly legal. Let's hope it doesn't happen, for it would be embarrassing to Salem's rule set-up.

THE LEETONIA PROTEST is water over the dam, but it should reveal to all clear-thinking softball players and fans that next year a cut and dried written set of player eligibility rules is sorely needed!

The decision is past, it was unfair to Leetonia and beneficial to the Eagles, who gained the right to re-play the game on no more of a "technicality" than that on which Leetonia made its protest. It's not Reese's fault, he just simply had no place to check and see the exact rule—because there isn't such a place.

Sinclair Defeats Leetonia While Eagles Are Eliminated

One more team was eliminated from the American league round robin Monday night as the Slip N Bite handed the Eagles a surprising beating, 10-5, while the Sinclair Oilers were springing another upset in edging out Leetonia 3-2.

The defeat was the second of the round for the Eagles and drops them from further play.

The Oilers and Crescents tangled in the most exciting game of the evening and went right down to the wire with the issue in doubt.

Sinclair drew first blood in the second frame when Bob Miller singled, was sacrificed to second, and scored on two passed balls.

Leetonia came right back with one of their own in the top of the third on singles by Ed Duco and Bob Weikart and a double by Larry Duco.

The score remained knotted until the last inning when the Crescents scored a run on Neil Kegelmeyer's double and Glenn Otto's single.

Things looked black for Sinclair, who must win all their games in the round robin to make the playoffs, as they came up in the last of the seventh. Bob Miller got his second single of the game, however, and when Manager "Buck" Ritchie shot his second hit of the game to right field, Miller steamed into third.

The throw from the outfield got away from Third Baseman Reese and Miller scored. When Reese scrambled across with the winning run.

Chet Brautigam, the winning hurler, pitched nice ball all the way, allowing seven hits, fanning three, and as usual, walking none. John Clunen, for Leetonia, also had a good night, as he allowed but six bingles and fanned four. He too, had perfect control.

Bob Miller increased his batting lead over the rest of the field with a two for three night, bringing his mark up to 488. Manager Ritchie had a perfect night for Sinclair with two hits in two trips.

The first tilt of the evening was an unexpected victory for the Slip N Bite. With the Eagles leading 4-3 at the end of the third, by virtue of "Doggie" Scullion's homer with one on in that inning, the restaurant lads came back to pound out 10 hits and seven more runs to ice the game.

They had three innings in which they scored three times; the third, fourth and sixth. The heavy stickmen for Slip N Bite were Jackie Rance with three for four, Dick Roughton, Bob Chappell, and Don Milligan, all with two hits apiece. Rance is currently hitting .483, although he is two games short of having played in three-fourths of his team's games. Not a long ball hitter, Rance is probably the fastest man in the loop on the paths.

Bob Chappell worked the game on the hill for the winners and allowed the losing Eagles but six hits, while his team clipped Henry Dermotta for 13. Chappell fanned six and walked three, as compared to Dermotta's two and three.

Dick Scullion, with two doubles and Delbert Fowler with a pair of singles, led the Eagles at the dish.

Tomorrow night Sinclair and Mullins, both undefeated in round robin play will tangle in the second game. The first tilt will see either the Ohio Grill or the Electric Fireaxe eliminated. Both games should attract a good crowd at Centennial park.

Akron Bears, Affiliate of National Pro League, To Play In This Area

AKRON, Aug. 13.—After a lapse of 20 years Akron returns to professional football as a member of the American Football league, minor affiliate of the National Football league.

The Akron club, known as the Akron Bears, will use the Portage Hotel as their headquarters and the Rubber Bowl as their home playing field.

The Akron Bears, recently organized as a minor league club in the American Football league, plan to draw heavily from fans in the Salem, East Liverpool, Alliance, Canton and Massillon areas.

To accommodate those fans interested in top pro football, Charlie Burns, manager of the Rubber Bowl, is arranging to have reserved and general admission tickets on sale at all times in Salem.

The locations of those outlets will be announced at an early date in The Salem News.

They open the season on Tuesday night, Sept. 17th, with an exhibition game against their parent club, the Chicago Bears and follow with another nocturnal game Saturday night, Sept. 28th against the Jersey City Giants, in the Rubber Bowl which seats 36,000.

Open Training Aug. 26.

The Akron Bears begin training in Akron Aug. 26th and part of their squad will come from the Chicago Bears, the balance will be recruited from Buckeye gridironers.

Bill Klein, veteran Akron pro coach and manager whose semi-pro team, the South Akron Awings, won 28 straight victories during 1938, 1939, 1940 and 1941 will serve as business manager of the Akron Bears. The Head Coach of the Bears will be announced soon.

A grey haired industrialist, John A. Thorpe, 49, who still looks young enough to make a sharp tackle will bark the top signals for the Bears.

Thorpe will serve as president and treasurer of the Akron Bears, member of the American Football League, with teams in Newark, N. J., Jersey City, N. J., Paterson, N. J., Valley Stream, Long Island, Wilmington, Del., Scranton, Pa., and Bethlehem, Pa.

Thorpe is the current president of the Akron Chamber of Commerce, president of the University Club and a director of the First-Central Trust Co. and the City Club.

He is also a member of Portage and Fairlawn Country clubs.

A graduate of Western Reserve University in 1920, Thorpe won letters in football, basketball, baseball and tennis. He was captain of the 1920 grid squad and was named on the All-Ohio team that year.

Bowling Center Dumps China, I. A. C. Wins Over Firestone

The Bowling Center of the National league finally passed the Salem China and moved into second place by thumping the Pottery 3-2 Monday night at Centennial park.

Spurred by a one-hit pitching job by Bill Guappone, the Italian A. C. beat the tallend Firestones 7-1, to eliminate that team from further play this season.

The Bowling Center lads had to beat Dale Ritchie on one of his good nights to win their tilt, but they managed to do it through.

They were blessed with the talents of Wayne Hahn, the winning pitcher, who let the China down with three singles. It was the second time this season the Center has measured the China.

Ritchie gave up only four hits, walked two and fanned a pair. Hahn walked one man and struck out none.

The winners got their first run in the fourth when Pitcher Hahn belted out a home run, and added two more in the seventh on two singles, a sacrifice and an error.

It was Lloyd Hahn's single in the last inning that provided the winning tally.

Wayne Hahn pitched no hit ball up till the seventh, although the China got a run in the fifth on a walk and two errors. He was touched for three straight singles in the last frame when the losers got their second run.

No one, of course, did any heavy hitting for either club, since only seven hits were made during the course of the game. Hahn's homer was the only extra base hit of the tilt.

The game leaves the Bowling Center on top in the round robin with three straight wins. Their closest threat, Washingtonville, has two wins and is scheduled to tangle with the Center tomorrow night.

The I. A. C.'s had no trouble beating the Firestone's after a five run first inning, which featured singles by "Tut" Guappone and his brother Bill and a rousing triple by Joe Zemerelli.

Bill Guappone had the situation in hand all the way as he fanned 10 Tremen and allowed only one base hit. He walked five, but kept the free tickets scattered. In the third inning, he struck out the side in order.

The Guappone brothers were the whole story of the game, as they each pumped out a pair of singles to lead the I. A. C. in batting. Joe Nonno and Joe Zemerelli had the other knocks.

Bill Rogers was the only Firestone hitter to solve Guappone's slants.

Louie Miller twirled for the losers and gave up six knockouts, while walking two and fanning one.

The victory gives the I. A. C. one and one record in the round robin and pits them against the China in one of Thursday's games. The defeat, of course, drops Firestone for the year.

Tax Elimination On Incomes Proposed

COLUMBUS, Aug. 13—Aimed directly at Toledo's payroll and income tax, a proposal to prohibit imposition of wage income or occupational taxes will be presented to the Ohio general assembly in January, Rep. John Poda (D-Summit) said today.

Advocating Gov. Frank J. Lausche of his plans in a letter, Poda said such legislation would not only ban levying such taxes but also would abolish "such taxes heretofore imposed."

Containing payroll and income taxes would prevent taxpayers from properly providing for themselves and their families with the necessities of life," the legislator wrote.

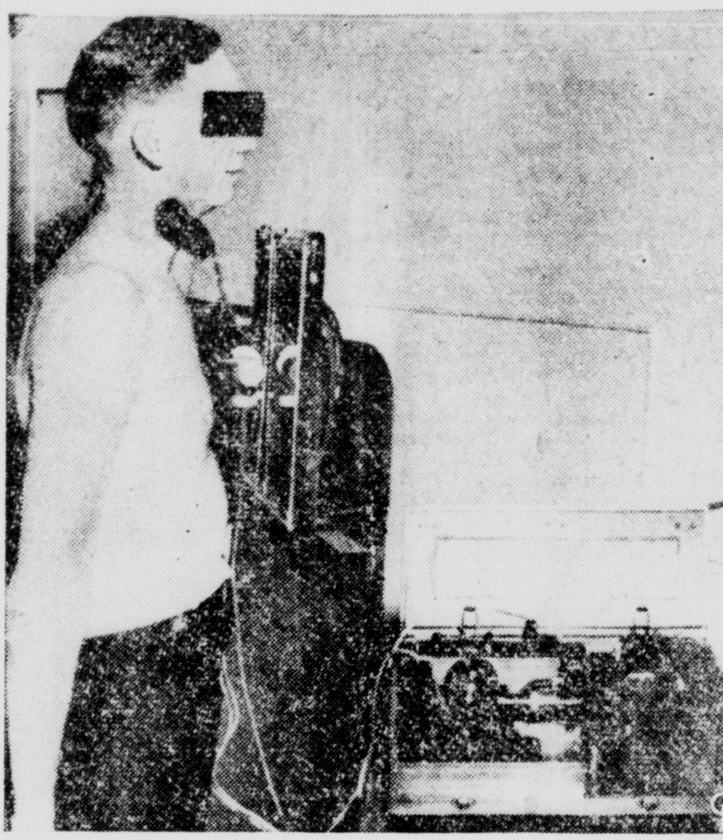

"If we are to better and more justly determine the financial paths to be followed, I strongly feel that the Ohio legislature should never sanction the abusive right of payroll or wage earner taxation to any of its political subdivisions, or even to itself, for that matter."

Such legislation, however, may run counter to a recent suggestion of the governor that the state vacate certain fields of taxation to permit local governments to levy and collect such taxes.

Toledo, hard-pressed financially until imposition of its revolutionary city payroll and income tax, expects to raise slightly in excess of $4,000,000 annually.

Many other Ohio cities are seriously eyeing such a tax to supplement its narrowed field of income.

NEW HEART DISEASE DETECTOR

A PATIENT IS EXAMINED at Temple University Medical School, Philadelphia, with the Electrocardiograph, a revolutionary device perfected by the school in cooperation with the U. S. Public Health Service. The machine reflects the muscular motions of the heart on a fluorescent screen, thus detecting heart trouble in the early stages. (International) few minutes later the man and the baby were gone.

The woman then went to their parked automobile, thinking the farm hand might return. But she became distraught and asked the police to institute a search for the infant.

Police headquarters later received a call from the manager of a garage who reported that a man had entered his garage carrying a baby "as if it were a sack of flour."

Authorities then returned the infant to its mother and jailed the farm hand.

Mother Distraught As Baby Disappears

(By Associated Press)

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Aug. 13—An eight-month-old girl was returned to her mother last night five hours after she disappeared with a man in whose care the mother had placed the infant, Police Sergeant Myron S. Neale reported today.

Neale said the man, a 47-year-old Wayne county farm hand, was placed in jail on a "charge of being drunk."

The officer related this account of the baby's disappearance:

The mother, a resident of Quaker, Wayne county, was in a downtown store here and had asked the man, who accompanied the family, to hold the baby while she shopped. A

Ohio Soil Needs Lime

COLUMBUS—Tests by Extension Agronomist E. P. Reed of Ohio State university have exploded an old belief the Western Ohio farmers didn't need to put lime on their fields.

Recommendations for lime application during the past several years have omitted the western half of the state. Reed's tests, however, show 65 per cent of the soil there is deficient in lime.

Reed said these results were really no new discovery. He quoted a 1944 report showing 56 per cent deficiency in 31 western counties and a 1945 test result of 69 per cent deficiency.

Tests were made on 18,555 soil samples from Western Ohio in the latest experiments.
